TRUMAN FIRES GENERAL M'ARTHUR

Impeach Truman, Is Demand

MacArthur Ready To Give Views

WASHINGTON, April 11—Republican Party leaders today agreed to seek a congressional investigation of the sudden dismissal of Gen. Douglas MacArthur and to call the five-star general back home for testimony.

GOP leaders agreed that removal of MacArthur from his commands was a "tragic error" and "a sad defeat for America."

Democratic spokesmen generally defended President Truman's action.

Congressional Republican leaders agreed to demand an investigation of "the whole question of the conduct of foreign and military policy."

House Minority Leader Martin, (R) Mass., said Senate and House GOP chiefs discussed "the question of possible impeachment" of the President, but did not disclose details or any conclusions which may have been reached.

Martin announced that MacArthur had agreed by telephone to appear before a joint session of Congress "in about three weeks."

SENATE MINORITY Leader Wherry, (R) Neb., meanwhile, declared that demands will be made in both the Senate and the House for impeachment proceedings against Mr. Truman and "possibly other high officials."

Sen. Jenner, (R) Ind., asserted: "We must impeach the President himself and find out who is the secret invisible government leading us to destruction."

Martin told the House: "I have communicated with Tokyo—with the office of Gen. MacArthur. I am authorized to say that Gen. MacArthur would be delighted to have an invitation to appear before the House and Senate. If that invitation is given he can be here in about three weeks."

Martin said House Republicans would hold a strategy conference later today.

House Speaker Rayburn, (D) Tex., termed MacArthur guilty of "insubordination," and backed the action taken by the President.

Rayburn declared: "We must never give the military control over civil government."

The reaction of Sen. Duff, (R) Pa., differed from that of most other Republican legislators. Duff said MacArthur's dismissal was "regrettable" but added:

"If dismissal was the only way to accomplish unity then it had to be done because the lack of unity was harmful to the best interests of the nation. To permit a continuous dispute as to authority and military policy at the most critical juncture in our history is unthinkable."

Chairman Wilson, (D) Ga., of the House Armed Services Committee, asserted that Mr. Truman acted "wisely and courageously" when it became evident that MacArthur was "out of sympathy with the policies of the commander-in-chief."

COMMIES TIGHTEN DEFENSE

Major Red Supply Base Leveled; UN Still Gains

TOKYO, April 11—United Nations troops thrust ahead along the Korean war front today under cover of heavy air and artillery strikes which destroyed a key Communist supply center.

Front dispatches reported that the important enemy base of Chorwon—17 miles north of Parallel 38—was wiped out Tuesday after a three-day rain of fire from American 155mm "Long Toms."

War planes also joined in completing destruction of Chorwon, a road junction, which was believed to have been the headquarters for three Chinese Red armies.

The Eighth Army's Wednesday evening communiqué said UN forces encountered heavy resistance on the western front south of Yonchon which lies 13 miles southwest of Chorwon.

Near Yonpyong, eight miles to the southeast of Yonchon, a heavy engagement was reported in progress.

THE OFFICIAL bulletin said about 980 Communists were killed.

British Would Give Reds Isle

WASHINGTON, April 11—A State Department spokesman disclosed today that Great Britain ten days ago informally suggested that Formosa ultimately should be turned over to Red Chinese control.

The spokesman said that Britain further suggested that the Communist Chinese government be given a voice in the writing of a Japanese peace treaty.

Stone Of Scone Is Recovered

LONDON, April 11—Britain's famous coronation stone—the "Stone of Scone," stolen from Westminster Abbey last Christmas, has been recovered.

The British Press Association reported that the historic relic has been handed to the custodian of Arbroath Abbey in Angus, Scotland, by "unknown persons."

Chairman Wilson, (D) Ga., of the House Armed Services Committee, asserted that Mr. Truman acted "wisely and courageously" when it became evident that MacArthur was "out of sympathy with the policies of the commander-in-chief."

UN Believes Peace Chance Good Now

Spokesman Says Chinese Reds 'Never' Would Talk To Mac

LAKE SUCCESS, April 11—President Truman's removal of General MacArthur today caught the United Nations completely by surprise and without advance information. But top delegates and officials fully approved Gen. Matthew Ridgway's appointment as UN commander in Korea.

They greeted Mr. Truman's step as "bold action" and with mixed regret and relief. Privately they stated that the fear of general war in the Far East probably would now be dissipated.

Peace drives for a Korean settlement are generally expected to go ahead full speed now.

A high level UN source pointed out that Ridgway served on the UN military staff in 1947 and in Korea has demonstrated his support of UN by giving credit to the fighting qualities of soldiers from a dozen nations other than the U.S. and South Korea.

The same source said that UN had information that Chinese Communist Leader Mao Tse-tung "never would have talked peace while MacArthur was in command." He added that even if Mao does not talk

Stock Market Smells Peace

NEW YORK, April 11—The stock market declined fractions to two points today under increased selling pressure. Wall Street sources attributed the sell-off to belief that the change of military command in the Far East may portend new peace moves in the offing.

Aircraft stocks were among the hardest hit. Among the industrial leaders, U.S. Steel was down. Other soft spots included Chrysler, DuPont and Republic Steel.

Day-By-Day Tabulation Gives Ouster Background

WASHINGTON, April 11—Here's a chronological rundown on the dispute between the administration and Gen. Douglas MacArthur which resulted in the general being relieved of his command by President Truman:

June 27, 1950—President Truman announced U.S. intervention in Korea and ordered MacArthur to give immediate assistance to the South Koreans against the North Korean Communist invaders.

July 7, 1950—MacArthur was named supreme commander of United Nations forces in Korea.

July 31-Aug. 1, 1950—MacArthur flew to Formosa without prior approval of Joint Chiefs of Staff, and turned down an offer by Nationalist Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek for 33,000 troops.

Aug. 26, 1950—President Truman learned that MacArthur had sent his views on Formosa to Veterans of Foreign Wars National Commander Clyde A. Lewis. MacArthur stated that he considered Formosa vital to the defense of the U.S.

President Truman told then Defense Secretary Johnson to have MacArthur withdraw the statement.

Aug. 27, 1950—Both Johnson and MacArthur announced that the statement had been withdrawn, but by that time it had already been published.

Oct. 15, 1950—President Truman conferred on Wake Island in the Pacific with MacArthur and later declared that he and the UN commander were in "complete unanimity" regarding the Korean situation.

Dec. 6, 1950—The Joint Chiefs of Staff forwarded to MacArthur instructions to clear all but routine statements with their superiors.

March 20, 1951—The Joint Chiefs of Staff informed MacArthur that President Truman would shortly issue a statement that the UN is now prepared to discuss conditions of settlement peace now "we'll know where we stand."

INFORMED UN sources said Mr. Truman was completely within his rights to remove and replace MacArthur in accordance with the Security Council resolution of last July. This authorized the President to name a supreme commander for the world body.

Assembly President Nasrallah Entezam declined comment except to admit he was caught completely by surprise despite the fact that he spent three days in Washington consulting with high U.S. officials.

Konstantin Zinchenko, Russian now acting as secretary general of UN in Trygve Lie's absence abroad, refused on the telephone to give any indication as to his reaction to President Truman's move.

It is a foregone conclusion, however, that the Russians will play UN action in Korea as mercilessly under Ridgway as they did under MacArthur.

A British spokesman said there had been no advance information to his delegation unless London was previously tipped off. The U.S. delegation to the UN said all comment would have to come from Washington.

A spokesman for the Indian delegation expressed amazement at the "vigorous, strong action" by the President.

Other delegations concurred in the opinion that the MacArthur removal, regrettable as it is, seemed to be necessary in the face of the great international crisis facing the world over aggressive Communism.

AN AMERICAN source not connected with the U.S. delegation said:

"We were in danger of losing confidence from our allies. Many members of the UN were

LEGEND IN HIS OWN TIME

Mac's Career As Colorful As The General Himself

Some call him MacArthur the Magnificent. Soldiers call him the "hell-for-breakfast" general.

But whatever the title, the military life of Gen. Douglas MacArthur is as incredible as the general himself. It spans an age bracketed by the almost-silent hiss of Indian arrows and the overwhelming eruption of the atom bomb.

If ever a man has become a legend in his own time, it is the 71-year-old MacArthur. A more flamboyantly courageous military leader has yet to capture the imagination of the public while becoming a turbulent storm-center of controversy.

His staggering list of accomplishments sounds as if torn from the pages of a romantic novel. Take these for an example:

First in his class at West Point. The first man in the Army to become a lieutenant general whose father was a lieutenant general. Youngest American division commander overseas in World War I. Youngest chief of staff in the history of the Philippine Republic. Commander-in-chief of the Southwest Pacific.

AND FINALLY—until today—supreme commander for the Allied powers in the Far East and supreme commander for the United Nations.

But despite his military exploits with the Rainbow Division in World War I, the heartbreak trail from Bataan and the triumphant return to Manila in World War II, it may be that history will best remember the general as an administrator.

For as superintendent at West Point he reorganized the entire course of study and led the fight that dissuaded a hostile Congress from seriously curtailing the academy program.

Later as chief of staff during the bitter Depression years which saw the Army dwindle to a strength of 12,000 officers and 110,000 men, it was MacArthur who kept up the fight to prevent the armed forces from dwindling away completely.

He became a prophetic voice on Capitol Hill—critics called him the "voice of doom"—and he kept up his feverish efforts that included the public prophesies that the U.S. would find itself embroiled in a great world conflict in the 1940s.

There was never any doubt that MacArthur would be a soldier. He was born in the Army. He grew up in the Army. And his father, Arthur MacArthur, had gained the title of "boy colonel of the west" as well as the Congressional Medal of Honor during the Civil War.

DOUGLAS MacArthur was born in an Army barracks in Little Rock, Ark., Jan. 26, 1880, the youngest of two sons. His older brother, Arthur II, was born in 1876, attended the U.S. Naval Academy and became a captain in World War I only to

Europeans Are Shocked, Surprised By Dismissal

PARIS, April 11—Shock and surprise mingled with gratification in many European circles today over President Truman's summary removal of Gen. Douglas MacArthur from his position of command in the Far East.

As compiled in Paris from various European sources, here is a picture of the general reaction:

The French Press Agency said:

"Diplomatic circles realized perfectly that the United States government's policy in the Far East profoundly opposed MacArthur's hazardous initiatives, but they also realize how painful it was for President Truman to make this decision against a great soldier with a glorious past and a renowned name. The decision could not have given more eloquent proof that the United States and its allies desire peace."

THE WIDELY-circulated Paris newspaper France-Soir commented:

"The abcess has been broken. The mortgage which enabled the little too personal policy of the pro-consul to the eastern pathways—MacArthur—to weigh on American diplomacy and United Nations action has been raised.

"There will be particular rejoicing in Paris, where efforts have not been lacking on several occasions recently to attract Washington's attention to the fact that dangers to peace and Allied unity were involved in dangerous Tokyo initiatives."

The newspaper Pris Presse described Mr. Truman's action as "a decision which can change the history of the world and save Europe from a second 'liberation.'"

Many newspapers in Western Europe expressed keen gratification over the President's action. The Copenhagen publication Aftenbladet said tersely:

"Europeans will receive this news with dry eyes."

Paul Reynaud, premier of France at the same time of the French collapse under the Nazis in 1940, said:

"Mr. Truman's decision solves an American problem and an inter-Allied issue."

"IN TAKING this step, Mr. Truman simultaneously resolved a problem of interior policy and

Fourth Division Is Given Orders

WASHINGTON, April 11—The Defense Department announced today that the Fourth Infantry Division has been ordered to join Gen. Eisenhower's forces in Europe.

A spokesman said the division will "start moving" within 30 days. The announcement did not say where the division will be stationed. At full strength of more than 18,000 men, it is now at Ft. Benning, Ga.

Mac Loses All 4 Of Commands

Ridgway Named New UN Chief

WASHINGTON, April 11—President Truman early today removed Gen. Douglas MacArthur from all four of his military commands in the Far East in a stunning climax to their policy differences over conduct of the Korean war.

The President ordered Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway to replace MacArthur as supreme commander Allied powers; commander-in-chief, United Nations command; commander-in-chief, Far East, and commanding general, U.S. Army, Far East.

Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet was named to succeed Ridgway as United Nations commander on the Korean war front.

MacArthur, hero of Bataan and the Pacific war, turned over his duties in Tokyo to his chief of staff, Maj. Gen. Doyle Hickey. The 71-year-old five-star general, who has served his country for more than half a century, was silent on the presidential order.

The announcement, ordered by Mr. Truman as President and commander-in-chief of the armed forces, was made to an extraordinary White House news conference by Press Secretary Joseph Short at 1 a. m. (EST).

SHORT RELEASED an official statement in which Mr. Truman said, in part:

"With deep regret I have concluded that General of the Army Douglas MacArthur is unable to give his wholehearted support to the policies of the United States government and the United Nations in matters pertaining to his official duties."

The White House also issued a compilation of hitherto-secret directives to MacArthur, and his relatives, covering the period from Dec. 6 to March 20 including an admonition to the general not to make pronouncements concerning foreign policy.

The latest Truman-MacArthur controversy was touched off by two statements by the United Nations commander.

In one, made public by House Republican Leader Martin of Massachusetts, MacArthur endorsed the use of Chinese Nationalist troops on Formosa to attack the mainland as a diversionary tactic to harass the Chinese Communist regime.

In another, MacArthur disavowed responsibility for the failure to arm and equip some 250,000 South Korean draftees and use them in the fighting.

The White House made public the series of communications with MacArthur in an apparent effort to reply publicly to these and other previous statements made by the World War II Pacific hero.

Mr. Truman's statement continued:

"IN VIEW of the specific responsibilities imposed upon me by the Constitution of the United States and the added responsibilities entrusted in me by the United Nations, I have decided that I must make a change of command in the Far East."

"I have, therefore, relieved Gen. MacArthur of his commands and have designated Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway as his successor."

The President issued another statement which said:

"Full and vigorous debate on matters of national policy is a vital element in the constitutional system of our free democracy. It is fundamental, however, that military commanders must be governed by the policies and directives issued to them in the manner provided for by law and the Constitution. In time of crisis, this consideration is particularly compelling."

"Gen. MacArthur's place in history as one of our greatest commanders is fully established. The nation owes him a debt of gratitude for the distinguished and exceptional service which he has rendered his country in posts of great responsibility."

"For that reason I repeat my regret at the necessity for the

General MacArthur Receives Orders Stoically, Goes Ahead With His Final Staff Conferences

TOKYO, April 11—Gen. Douglas MacArthur turned over his duties to his chief of staff tonight after receiving with what was described as "soldierly" stoicism President Truman's order relieving him of all his commands.

The 71-year-old general engaged in three and a half hours of final conferences with his top aides, then left his Tokyo headquarters office for his American embassy home, without any public comment as yet on his removal.

His military secretary, Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney, said that the President's action in relieving MacArthur was effective immediately and automatically puts his next senior officer temporarily in command.

That officer is Maj. Gen. Doyle Hickey, the chief of staff, who assumes MacArthur's duties until the arrival from Korea of Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, elevated to the posts from which MacArthur has been ousted.

First word of President Truman's action reached MacArthur from an armed forces radio newscast at his embassy home following a mid-afternoon luncheon with a U. S. senator and an airline executive.

Twenty minutes later, an official radio message from Washington was handed the five-star general in a brown envelop marked "FLASH."

It advised MacArthur he was removed from all four of his commands, including the posts of supreme United Nations commander and chief of the Allied occupation of Japan.

Whitney, who witnessed the dramatic moment when MacArthur received the notification closing one of America's outstanding military careers, declared the general took the blow "magnificently."

The military secretary said MacArthur showed "soldierly qualities" in "his finest hour."

Hours after the news of MacArthur's removal from his commands hit Tokyo like a giant bombshell, no public comment was forthcoming from the general himself. Through his attaches, he let it be known he did not plan an immediate statement.

Nor was any public comment immediately forthcoming from Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, appointed by President Truman to succeed MacArthur. The 57-year-old Ridgway received word of his promotion while engaged in one of his daily rounds of inspection of the battlelines in Korea where he has commanded the UN ground forces since last December.

Ridgway prepared to fly to Tokyo immediately as his frontline officers and troops expressed surprise over the shakeup in the top command.

Just before MacArthur arrived at his downtown office, Maj. Gen. Frank Lowe, President Truman's personal representative at Tokyo headquarters, walked out of the Dai-Ichi Building without speaking to newsmen.

Inside the building, there seemed to be an unusual number of office workers in the lobby, including both Wacs and uniformed men. Honor guardsmen had to hold some of them back to make way for MacArthur who action I feel compelled to take in his case."

MacArthur now is free of all command restrictions and can come home for the first time in 15 years to give the nation his views on the Korean conflict, Communist China and the Russian menace in the Far East.

There have been numerous congressional efforts to get MacArthur to return to the United States to advise the country on the progress of the Korean conflict, but he has always declined because of the pressure of work.

THERE IS NOW a resolution before the Senate to send a bipartisan congressional delegation to the Far East to consult MacArthur, and there is one before the House asking that he be called home for advice.

According to the White House record of orders sent to the Far East, the President on Dec. 6, 1950, ordered MacArthur to cease making public speeches concerning foreign policy, until such statements had received full clearance by the State Department.

MacArthur also was enjoined to make no pronouncements on military policy unless they had been cleared by the Department of Defense.

On March 24, a personal message was sent MacArthur by the Joint Chiefs of Staff, calling his attention to the President's directive. The order read:

"The President has directed that your attention be called to his order as transmitted 6 December 1950. In view of the information given you 20 March 1951, any further statements by you must be coordinated in the order of 6 December.

"The President has also directed that in the event Communist military leaders request an armistice in the field, you immediately report that fact to the JCS for instructions."

The directive of March 20 had informed MacArthur that the State Department was planning a presidential announcement that, with the main forces of the enemy in Korea cleared out of South Korea, the United Nations were "now prepared to discuss conditions of settlement in Korea."

MACARTHUR WAS told that there was a "strong feeling" in the United Nations that an effort should be made to reach a settlement in Korea before major UN elements advanced north of the 38th Parallel.

MacArthur was told in the same dispatch that the parallel "has no military significance" and he was requested to give his recommendations on what authority he should be given to keep contact with the Chinese Reds.

In connection with the need for larger forces in Korea, which MacArthur had stressed in recent public statements, the White House made public exchanges of "top secret" communications on the problem of arming and utilizing additional South Korean manpower.

On Jan. 4, the Joint Chiefs of Staff messaged MacArthur that consideration was being given to "arming additional Rok manpower."

He was asked for his recommendations. The Joint Chiefs of Staff told MacArthur that, based on availability of weapons, "it appears that Rok forces could be increased by from 200,000 to 300,000 men."

MacArthur promptly messaged back that the need for additional Rok troops was "questionable."

MacArthur added: "In view of the probable restricted size of the battlefield in which we may operate in the near future, and the high priority of NPRJ (National Police Reserve, Japan) requirements, the value of attempting to organize, train and arm additional

Local Retailers Hear OPS Aide, Get Warning

Circleville merchants Tuesday heard a lengthy discussion of the aims and intents of the Office of Price Stabilization.

The discussion was held during a meeting in Court-Main restaurant called by Circleville Chamber of Commerce. Speaker was W. J. Trayte, deputy administrator of the Columbus OPS district.

Approximately 45 merchants heard Trayte define OPS Regulation 7. It was explained that Regulation 7 now affects only such consumer goods as wearing apparel and household items. Restaurants and groceries are not affected yet.

The merchants were told that in the next few days amendments to Regulation 7 will be placed in the mails. About 78,000 more merchants will be affected by these.

THE AMENDMENTS will add new categories, including radios, television sets, sporting goods, brooms and mops.

Merchants affected by the regulation are required to file by May 31. If they fail to file by then, the items in the categories included in the regulation may not be offered for sale. The practical effect of this would be that the merchant might be forced out of business.

An exemption to filing is provided for the merchant whose sale of items in the listed categories is under 10 percent of his total sales.

Regulations and instructions are available in the chamber of commerce on West Main street. John Magill, chamber secretary, said Wednesday complete lists of categories "have not arrived yet, but we should have them by Thursday."

Magill added that the chamber is acting as a temporary clearing house for OPS information only "until an advisory group recently appointed by Mayor Thurman I. Miller can get into action."

Autoist, 70, Is Fined $25

Albert Babb, 70, of Circleville Route 2 was fined $15 and costs Tuesday by Mayor Thurman I. Miller for failure to yield the right of way.

He was arrested by State Highway Patrolman C. E. Wells following a collision of Babb's auto and a car driven by William Haraway, 29, of Lancaster. The accident took place at the intersection of State Route 56 and U.S. Route 22 one mile west of Circleville.

Also in mayor's court Robert Lewis Kendrick, 19, of Columbus forfeited $5 bond. He was arrested Monday by Circleville Police Officers Orville Caldwell and John White for driving on North Court street with insufficient lights.

Rok forces in the immediate future appears questionable.

"IT IS CONSIDERED that the short range requirements can best be met by utilizing available manpower to replace losses in existing Rok units rather than creating new organizations.

"The long range requirement for, or desirability of, arming additional Rok personnel appears to be dependent primarily upon determination of the future U.S. military position with respect to both the Korean campaign and the generally critical situation in the Far East."

The President's announcement means that he has cast the American government against:

1. Bombing the Red Chinese bases in Manchuria.

2. Relieving the U.S. naval blockade of Formosa.

3. Using U.S. might to help Chiang Kai-shek to move large parts of his 600,000-man army to the Chinese mainland to attack the Chinese Reds in the back.

4. The use of Chiang's troops in the Korean war as reinforcements for the United Nations armies.

5. A U.S. naval blockade of the Red China coast which would halt all imports into the Communist nation.

Mac's Career As Colorful As The General Himself

MacArthur was initiated into battle early. At the age of four, while being baptized at a crude outpost in New Mexico territory, the ceremony was interrupted by an Indian attack.

It was a prophetic beginning for a daring career. The hiss of Indian arrows later was to be replaced by the whish of Filipino bolos in the 1900s, the high-pitched whine of Mexican mausers in Vera Cruz, the pounding of artillery in World War I and the almost daily bombings of World War II.

From the moment the last war broke out in Europe, MacArthur pleaded with the government to strengthen our hand in the Pacific. Then, on July 26, 1941, President Roosevelt asked MacArthur to return to active service in the U.S. Army.

And from that date on, MacArthur began the tremendous struggle that was to end with the Japanese surrender aboard the Battleship Missouri.

Senate GOP Policy Leader Taft of Ohio declared: "The President has made a tragic error. Not only have we lost a great military commander, but the action is an indication of adherence to policies which are certain to lead to either a stalemate or ignominious concessions to the Chinese Communists."

An administration Democrat, Sen. Humphrey of Minnesota, contended that "the President has acted to protect our national security."

WHERRY ASSERTEL that "Mr. Truman has kept Acheson and fired MacArthur," adding: "He has removed a man vastly well-informed on the political and military situations of the Orient."

Rep. Van Zandt, (R) Pa., announced that he would offer a resolution in the House today calling upon Congress to invite MacArthur to appear at a joint session "and submit a complete report of the situation."

"It's a shame the American people do not have the opportunity of firing Truman."

"I think that MacArthur in his statements recognized the seriousness of the situation in the Far East. I think the administration's approach has been political, while MacArthur has been practical."

Walnut Voters Approve 4-Mill School Issue

In a special election Tuesday Walnut Township school district voted approval of a four-mill tax levy for current operating expenses.

The vote in favor of the levy was 276, while 144 voted against it. This was a 65.7 percent affirmative vote. Only 60 percent affirmative vote was required to pass the levy.

The levy will run for two years, is expected to bring in approximately $48,000.

Passage of the tax is expected to relieve the school's current financial worries. Low funds had caused some school employees to worry about pay day.

Walnut and Circleville Townships in Pickaway County and Royalton and Amanda in Fairfield County are affected by the levy. The tax amounts to 40 cents on each $100 of property valuation.

one affecting the common policy of the United Nations.

"This having been said, I congratulate the President for rendering homage to the career of a grand soldier."

In The Hague, the Netherlands government authorized an official statement praising the "outstanding military capacities of Gen. MacArthur." The statement added:

"But recently, the Netherlands government has become more and more concerned about his public statements. The Netherlands government believes that President Truman's action in replacing him was a wise one."

MacArthur's removal had a mixed reception in Italy.

Premier Alcide De Gasperi said:

"We hope that what must have been a difficult and painful decision will prove to have been a contribution to peace by alleviating world tension."

Foreign Minister Count Carlo Sforza said:

"In the Far East only one policy is possible: That of the United Nations. Mr. Truman's decision guarantees it, and therefore it is an excellent thing."

Italian Communists, doubtful of their own position because of major tests due in forthcoming elections, had no immediate comment.

West German political circles withheld discussion of the action also.

At MacArthur's embassy home, Capt. George T. Essex Denison, executive officer of the general's honor guard for the last 16 months, was shocked when told his chief had been relieved of his commands.

"When I see it on paper I'll believe it," was his comment.

Standing guard outside the embassy when the word was first brought to MacArthur was Sgt. Phillip Oberst of Fremont, Ohio, who has served at that post 16 months.

"They are making a big mistake," the sergeant said, shaking his head.

A silent group of members of the honor guard—some wearing uniforms, others their fatigues and still others in exercise sweatshirts and boxing shoes—stood silently around the coffee counter in the lobby of the main embassy building.

It was a rainy, gloomy day in Tokyo when the news of MacArthur's replacement came from the Armed Forces Radio in Los Angeles in a shortwave special broadcast which followed a regular 15-minute newscast.

The first prominent persons in Tokyo to comment on President Truman's action were Japanese leaders. An influential Japanese businessman said:

"General MacArthur was the greatest leader possible for the occupation. He has been a man of great understanding and affection for the Japanese people."

Fumio Kojima, managing editor of the widely circulated newspaper Yomiuri Shimbun, declared:

"The news was unexpected. I wish the issues could have been solved without such stringent action."

"I believe that despite the fact that General MacArthur has been relieved, the Japanese people will follow the principles laid down by the general's occupation policies."

usually strikes through an empty lobby at this hour when he returns to his office from lunch.

It was a hushed crowd inside as well as outside the building. One woman's voice in the lobby cut through the silence, saying: "It's a shame."

Just before the general arrived, one honor guardman at the headquarters building remarked:

"We hope to hell that the American public and our own State Department know what they're doing when they relieve such a man. General MacArthur has done more to help the Japanese people and more for the good of the American people and their representatives than any man in history."

The news stunned Tokyo where it spread swiftly. Knots of people gathered on street corners to discuss it and a huge crowd quickly assembled in front of MacArthur's headquarters at the Dai-Ichi Building in the downtown section of the Japanese capital.

At MacArthur's embassy home, Capt. George T. Essex Denison, executive officer of the general's honor guard for the last 16 months, was shocked when told his chief had been relieved of his commands.

"When I see it on paper I'll believe it," was his comment.

Editors' Roundtable

"Editors' Roundtable" is a twice-a-week release based on a study of an average of about 150 daily newspaper editorial pages. The major issue of the day is analyzed and digested, passed on to readers as a survey of opinion from the nation's leading editors. It is the "voice of the press."

STUDENT DEFERMENTS

To a minority of editors President Truman's student deferment order is a justified attempt to maintain normal functioning of our higher educational system in a situation short of all-out war. But despite the desirability of this objective, the majority of editors feel that the plan must be more limited, based on higher scholastic standards and some selectivity of college courses most in the national interest. Many in the majority group fear this deferment will, in too many cases, lead to unjustified permanent draft exemption. But the minority argues that graduates will be properly reclassified.

RICHMOND (Va.) Times-Dispatch (Ind.-Dem.): "There is much to be said for utilizing special scientific or other valuable talents of gifted college men in the service of the nation, but little or nothing for exempting the majority of college students from all military service. . . . Now, however, the President proposes . . . to exempt from the draft hundreds of thousands of college men, the majority of whom have no real claim to such exemption. It is now provided that a college man in the top half of his class who has completed one academic year can be exempted, which is generous enough certainly."

HARTFORD Courant (Rep.): "The point to emphasize in the plan . . . is that it is deferment, not permanent exemption. The proposed aptitude tests or basing deferment on academic standing, such as a student's being in the upper two-thirds of his class, will permit several hundred thousands to complete their college courses. After that they must take their chances with the draft. . . . Perhaps the President has . . . a happy solution of a perplexing question. Colleges have feared the effect of the draft on their enrollments. Financial bankruptcy loomed for many of the smaller endowed institutions . . ."

RICHMOND News Leader (Ind.-Dem.): "The new proposal does not single out young men who are pursuing scientific careers; it aims broadly at all 'bright boys' . . . What of the bright boys who, for financial or other valid reasons, are not able to enter college? Will not deferred college men be able to establish themselves upon graduation in industry or other occupation . . . considered to be necessary to the maintenance of the national health, safety or interest . . . (Section 1622 Selective Service Regulations) and thereby win total exemption from service?"

WASHINGTON Star (Ind.): "The plan . . . represents a sensible attempt to reconcile the inevitable conflict between mobilization and the American scheme of education. . . . The standards are to be set by Selective Service officials and may be adjusted from time to time to meet the varying needs for military manpower. . . . If all-out war were to develop, of course, the deferment plan would have to be thrown out the window. No way has yet been found to reconcile all-out mobilization with education-as-usual or business-as-usual."

CINCINNATI Times-Star (Rep.): "This whole plan has been criticized in some quarters as 'undemocratic.' It is undemocratic in that it does not extend to young men who lack the means to enter any college. But when national security is at stake national needs must be the criterion. American defense requires the special aptitudes and training of college men. This is especially true in the case of scientific students, though for any long-range program the Nation will ignore at its own peril the importance of the humanities and the social sciences."

SALT LAKE CITY Tribune (Ind.): "The administration plan seems necessary in the beginning stages of the tremendous military build-up. However, it is hoped that the method of selecting candidates for specialized training and higher education can be improved as the pro-

Another Fruit Spray Bulletin Issued By OSU

COLUMBUS, April 11—Following is another fruit spray bulletin from the office of the extension pathologist at Ohio State university:

The development of apple buds in most of Ohio was very rapid last weekend. The development of the early apple varieties ranges from delayed dormant to early prepink in Southern Ohio to green tip in Northeastern Ohio. The late varieties range from delayed dormant in Southern Ohio to green tip in Northeastern Ohio.

The apple scab fungus is discharging at a low to moderate rate in the southern third of the state. The fungus is mature as far north as Columbus, and is nearing maturity in the northern part of the state.

Since part of the fungus-fruiting bodies is matured in Central Ohio there probably will be some discharge of spores in this area during the next few days gram moves along . . . Giving special aptitude tests, deferring from the draft the young men with high scores and handing guns to those who score low can cause an undesirable psychological reaction. . . . Already the phrase 'too smart to fight' is heard. . . . This is not good for unity or morale."

WASHINGTON Post (Ind.): "To be sure, the Army will get the backward students. But it should be remembered that the high-ranking students may eventually make valuable contributions to national defense if permitted to continue their studies, while the men with low marks are often merely misfits who can be trained to become 'first-class soldiers. . . . Of course, the stressing of marks and passing grades is unfortunate, but it is the only feasible method of procedure that will serve the purpose of the draft deferment order which on the whole appears to be a sound and well-balanced plan."

if showers continue. Therefore, growers in the southern third of the state are urged to finish their first scab spray as soon as possible.

Growers in the Fairfield, Belmont and southern half of the Miami area are advised to apply a scab spray to all apple varieties in delayed dormant, or beyond before the next rainy period.

Superior type oil may be used with safety in the delayed dormant. Ferbam can be included in this spray for the control of apple scab.

We urge all ourcooperators to send us scabby apple leaf samples, especially those in Central Ohio.

Bank Fisherman Nabbed By FBI

NEW YORK, April 11 — The FBI has announced the arrest of an ingenious angler who fished for greenbacks in banks.

Edward Scheidt, in charge of the New York office, said Peter Hanson, 50, used a paper-covered ruler with a wad of chewing gum which he projected through the teller's window to pick up bills.

The FBI man said Hanson was trailed by fingerprints on the device which he was forced to leave behind when a teller in a Kansas City bank spotted him making off with $1,520.

GOOD NEWS everywhere you look in the NEW PLYMOUTH

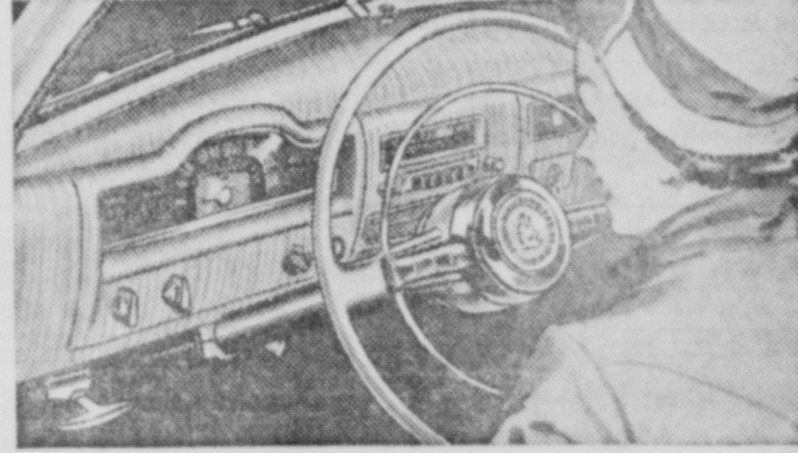

NEW "SAFETY-FLOW RIDE"—stability and safety never possible before! Even when you unexpectedly encounter violent bumps, dips, waves, or holes in the road, you enjoy a smooth and steady motion. You have complete control of the car at all times. "Safety-Flow Ride" comes from new Oriflow shock absorbers working with other engineering features.

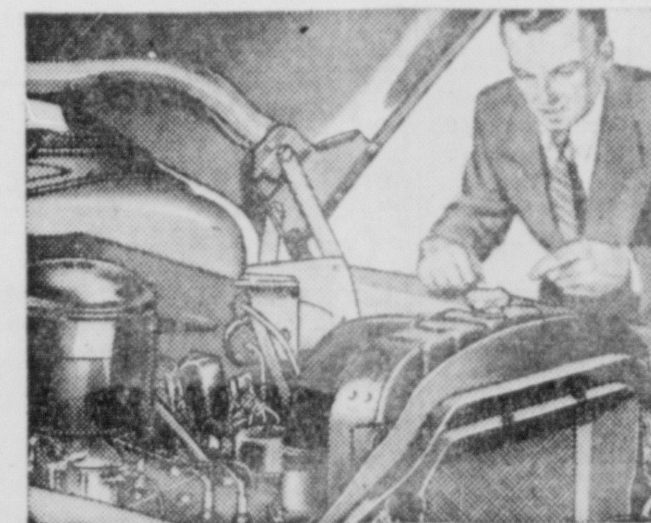

NEW ELECTRIC WINDSHIELD WIPERS, unlike vacuum wipers, clean at a fast, constant speed, even when the engine is under a heavy load. They're standard equipment and with them you're not required to buy a vacuum booster. You enjoy better vision all around, with narrower front corner posts and a 15% larger rear window.

NEW BUMPERS, GRILLE, HOOD. The low-sweeping new hood permits a better view of the road close to the car. Individual grille units are replaceable, so you don't need a whole new grille if only one part is damaged. Also, all four fenders are bolted on; they cost less to repair or replace than fenders which are parts of the body.

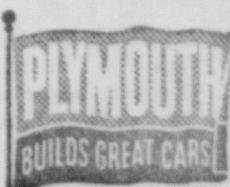

NEW INSTRUMENT PANEL AND HAND BRAKE. The new vertical-grain dash harmonizes with a variety of rich interior fabrics and trim. The new "T-handle" hand brake pulls easily, sets positively, and releases at a turn of the handle. The ignition key does three things at once: turns on the ignition, starts the engine, and puts the automatic choke in operation!

NEW ENGINE FEATURES. A new radiator pressure cap increases cooling capacity when you need it most and also helps keep the water or anti-freeze from boiling away. A new by-pass cooling system, standard on all models, gives fast warm-up and yet circulates the coolant so that the engine is fully protected under all starting and driving conditions.

George E. Sokolsky's These Days
Frederic R. Coudert Jr. is introducing a bill into Congress to rescue the professional workers of this country from permanent poverty. For precisely that fate faces lawyers, doctors, architects, writers and others, who, no matter what they earn, are being squeezed between taxes and high prices, without any opportunity to save for the future.
Coudert's bill is to aid those men and women who are not eligible as beneficiaries of corporate or other private pension plans. These plans are really savings. For instance, I was recently looking at the card of a Sears, Roebuck file clerk who had been with that company many years and, as I calculated it, she has saved, through their plan, $60,000. I would not mind being a file clerk with such savings.

Professional men, writers, artists, farmers and small businessmen are now unable to make great savings, unless they swindle, because of taxes which are geared against them. Coudert's idea is to permit the postponement of federal taxes as regards a portion of their earned net income, so that the amount of money shall be contributed as a restricted retirement fund.
The worst phase of this situation, as it affects professional men, writers and artists, is that their earnings are up and down, a lot one year and not so much another year. If they could keep their earnings, they could average out over a few years. But the way it is, a writer may earn a fortune in one year and get taxed for the full amount in that year, and then he does not earn for a few years and is broke.

The Treasury amortizes machines; why not men?
Coudert says:
"It is of utmost importance to encourage young men to enter the professions and small business ventures. Yet the operations of the present tax laws, instead of giving this encouragement, tend to do the exact opposite by making corporation employment more attractive to young men. I believe this to be against the public interest."

I tried to read the Coudert bill and, like all other acts of Congress dealing with taxation, it gets so involved that you have to hire a lawyer and an accountant to discover how it works. But it is enough for me that it gives to the white-collar folks a chance to put aside something of their earnings for the day when the joints ache and the hand is shaky and the eyes are not so good.

In our business, a young person is hired on the general assumption that he knows nothing. Then for 10 or 15 years, he keeps on learning the hard way, his product appearing in black ink on white paper for all to see.
So our hero arrives. But so has Uncle Sam. He tells his wife that he is now a big shot, but she wants to know how it happens that E. Merl Young's wife grabs a $9,540 mink coat while she has to wear mouton, which is fancy for sheepskin. Our genius tells her to go fight the Treasury. Well, maybe there are ten wonderful years, during which the great man sits on the dais and rises for a bow now and then up comes another young fellow and pushes him into the back pages. So there is nothing to do but to become a ghost-writer.

But savings! There are none except what Uncle Sam gave to the British to bridge their dollar gap—only a small share of it, which must make a man feel noble.

River's Rim
by Jane Abbott
CHAPTER THIRTY-ONE
JENNET had come back into the taproom after the British officers left. "Toby, will you help Sarah and Becky in the sheds?" She did not speak until Toby had gone out of the room. Then she said, "Uncle Quint, do you know it was my father Aunt Rhoda was visiting?"
"No. No, I did not know," he dropped down in a chair at the table. "I should have thought of it! I should have suspected Pettipiece wasn't here on the frontier to preach! I knew he had money but I figured he'd hoarded it from better days. All that time I was feeding and housing a traitor! His anger at himself, now, thickened his voice. 'I was stupid, stupid.'"
"Or stubborn?" It was a moment before he could go on. "He must have told Rhoda, that day, that he could get her across from some place along the lower river—it was what she wanted to do—but to go to Alcoa..." He put a hand to his eyes to hide from Jennet the depth of his humiliation.
She picked up a plate, stacked it with a little clatter on the other. "She'll hate it, Uncle Quint." She spoke with passion. "Maybe she is hating it, now. No one could live under the same roof with my father and brother and not hate them. And, when she comes home, she'll be as contented to be here as I am."
Quint shook his head. "You're a strange girl—to choose our way of living!"
"Not strange—I am like you!"
The winter went ahead—with snow and more snow and on some days bitter winds from off the lake that whipped up the snow in blinding swirls.
Jennet still continued to speak of Rhoda, from time to time. But Quint tried not to think of her at Alcoa. To do so meant the humiliation that was almost more than he could bear. It was as if she found him back again to those ties he had severed.
So he kept his mind on each day's work. As the weeks passed he was becoming more and more shut up in himself; his face set in more stubborn lines. If he'd been a man given to self-searching he would have realized that, down deep in him, like a seed ready to germinate, was an uncertainty that these convictions he held to were right. It had been brought in on him that he stood alone in them. But he had stood alone in his convictions for almost the thirty-eight years of his life.
Little news came in and that was not cheering. General Smyth had been succeeded in the command of the forces at Buffalo village by a Colonel John Piper. After the fiasco of the attempted crossing from the yard, Smyth's position had been a mockery. He'd been called a coward, to his face, on the streets, more than once. His men openly ignored his orders. But Colonel Piper did little more.

SOCIAL SECURITY STUDY
WITH federal social security coverage broadened and "benefits" increased, the Senate has instructed its finance committee to make a fundamental study of the whole structure. The aim is to recommend whether the present method should be discarded in favor of universal coverage on a "pay-as-you-go" plan. The Townsend Plan, that is. At present employer and employee join in contributing equal amounts to a paper reserve fund upon which the pensioner draws upon reaching retirement age. The alternative—or Townsend—plan is to grant everybody a pension and draw the money from current taxes. Everybody would be taxed every year to pay an increasing number of pensioners.
The social security reserve fund as of today is carried on the books at $13 billion or thereabouts. But this is in government bonds. Taxpayers will be called upon to raise the money to retire these bonds as pensioners are paid their retirement benefits.

The present plan has the virtue of acting as a brake on unlimited pensions. If everybody was covered and everybody taxed to pay, politicians certainly would be tempted to raise the "benefits"—a misnomer if ever there was one—higher and higher. Obviously it is better to tax the recipients directly.
But it is difficult to see how the general taxpayer will escape being called upon to pay the pensions when the government spends social security tax receipts and puts government bonds in the "fund."

AMERICA VS. RUSSIA
EVERY survey of the world military situation indicates that the United States is in poor shape compared to Russia, but in the long pull this country can outdistance the Reds.

The U. S. is supreme on the sea and in fair condition in the air. But on land Russia has 130 infantry divisions, probably 10 times the immediately available American forces. American weapons for which contracts are being let will be superior to the Russian.
If the U. S. had remained on a war basis for the last five years, this country might be as strong as Russia on land, and infinitely stronger at sea and in the air. But the American people would be tired and American weapons would be outmoded. As it is, in the battle of production the tired, backward Russians will eat American dust.

A draft board explained an induction notice sent to an 88-year-old Los Angeles man was a mistake. Either that or premature.

Spring has come to Washington—the season when yachts are more popular than fur coats.

Kiernan's ONE MAN'S OPINION

Domestic defense preparations are still pretty much on an individual footing, some people are building bomb shelters and Mike Quill is taking over the New York police force.

Quill puts it a little differently. It appears that the sixteen thousand members of the New York police force need protection and Quill is going to give it to them.

This probably is one of the rare occasions in history when sixteen thousand large armed men were invited to get behind one small man carrying a black-thorn stick.

All opposition to the project is, of course, "reactionary." Experience has proved that Quill is a true liberal and especially so when there is a particularly large number of prospective dues-payers available.

However, there is some competition in the field. Other leaders are just as anxious to prove their liberal leadership and accept the down payment.

It's real touching to witness the selfless devotion that goes into this organizing work, the little quarrels as to who can do the most for the oppressed slaves... who sometimes don't even know they're oppressed until they're told about it.

Bennett Cerf's Try, Stop Me

In London, the Book Society, celebrating its twenty-first birthday, exhibited a prized communication from the late Queen Marie of Rumania. The club conducts periodic member-get-acquainted campaigns, with free books for every enrollment secured—a device used effectively by book clubs in America, too.
Queen Marie responded to an early one: "Please send your literature to the following: King George of Greece, Princess Marie of Yugoslavia, and Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands. If any of them take out membership, I'd like a copy of Evelyn Waugh's 'Vile Bodies.'"

Time for a Scotch story, don't you think? This one concerns the evening Mrs. McDermott looked out the window just as the family was going on to dinner, and, wailed, "Och, Sandy, here comes company. I bet they haven't eaten yet." Sandy, equal to the emergency, ordered, "Quick! Everybody out on the porch—with a tooth-pick."

Inside WASHINGTON
MARCH OF EVENTS
Harold Ickes Suggested As RFC's Administrator | Former Interior Secretary, President Friendly Again
Special to Central Press
WASHINGTON—Administration insiders insist that former Interior Secretary Harold Ickes is in line for the job of bossing the scandal-ridden Reconstruction Finance Corporation, when and if the agency is reorganized.
The sharp-tongued Ickes is said to be receptive to the idea, though he took occasion a few weeks ago at the White House to deny that he is re-entering government service.
Ickes' reputation for integrity makes him just the man President Truman wants to put the RFC back in business on a basis eliminating all taint of "influence" peddling or political pressure.
Ickes quit Mr. Truman's Cabinet in a huff over nomination of California oil man Ed Pauley as Undersecretary of Navy, but he now is on friendly terms with the President and is a frequent White House visitor.
It remains to be seen whether the RFC will be reorganized, opening a job for Ickes. The House has approved the President's plan to replace the five-man RFC board with a single administrator, but there is some sentiment in the Senate for abolition of the entire agency.
● RACKETEER TAXES—Some of J. Edgar Hoover's ex-FBI aides may be put on the trail of racketeers who have been evading payment of income taxes in amounts estimated to total hundreds of millions of dollars.
A House ways and means subcommittee, headed by Rep. Cecil R. King (D), California, is seeking the aid of the FBI director in lining up top-notch investigators in its probe of tax evasions.

Since the House group is also investigating the activities of the Internal Revenue Bureau it cannot employ "T-men" who normally would be called into service for such a task.
Nor can it enlist the aid of active FBI agents, whose jurisdiction does not extend to income tax evasions. The answer may be provided by hiring former FBI men recommended by Hoover.
The House unit already has a list of 126 members of the underworld "elite" whose income tax returns are believed ripe for a thorough probe.

● MAO'S HEALTH—The health of Chinese Communist leader Mao Tse-tung is believed to be a matter of serious concern to his Red colleagues. However, Far East experts in Washington say they will see no particular reason for jubilation should Mao's illness prove fatal. The reason is that his successor would be Liu Shao-chi, who is regarded as even closer to the Kremlin than Mao and even more determined to continue Communist aggression in Korea.

The fact that Mao is ailing became known when he absented himself from public appearances in Peking for more than three months. He is reported to have sent for a noted Hong Kong physician, who declined to make the long trip but did make a long-distance diagnosis of Mao's illness.

● DRAFT CUTBACK—Don't misinterpret the cutback in draft calls for April-May as indication that the military manpower problem has been solved. Government officials from the President down insist that the big buildup must go on, and there is still strong indication that Congress will authorize drafting of 18-year-olds and enact a universal military training program.
The Pentagon points out that the immediate reasons for the new draft quotas—49,000 in April, 60,000 in May—are an increase in enlistments and a reduction in Korean war casualties.

The armed forces got 26,000 more volunteers than they had expected and there were 16,000 fewer casualties than had been anticipated.
On Capitol Hill, House Republicans will make a strong bid to divorce UMT from existing draft legislation, but it's still a better than even bet that universal training will go through tied to the 18-year-old draft.

Mrs. Montgomery Named President Of Pickaway Medical Group Auxiliary

Nurse Recruit Drive Planned

Women's Auxiliary to Pickaway County Medical Society held a luncheon meeting in Pickaway Arms Tuesday and named Mrs. E. L. Montgomery as new president of the group.

Mrs. Jasper Hedges was chosen president-elect and Mrs. Ned Griner selected as secretary-treasurer.

Centering the luncheon table was an arrangement of yellow roses, white carnations, snapdragons and stock which, following the luncheon, was presented to Dr. and Mrs. G. R. Gardener of Ashville in commemoration of their 57th wedding anniversary.

During the business session plans were completed for the annual nurse recruitment program.

High school girls who have expressed an interest in making nursing a career and have registered with their school superintendent will be taken on a tour of a Columbus hospital.

Four members of the auxiliary will accompany the two bus loads of students and will leave Circleville Memorial Hall at 1 a. m. Friday for the trip to Columbus.

Berger Hospital Guild 1 is made up of members of the medical auxiliary and new guild officers were also elected at the Tuesday meeting.

They are: chairman, Mrs. Jasper Hedges; co-chairman, Mrs. Mark Huckeride; and secretary, Mrs. Ray Carroll.

Those members present for the luncheon and business meeting were Mrs. R. R. Bales, Mrs. Carroll, Mrs. M. D. Gamble of New Holland, Mrs. Richard Hedges of Ashville, Mrs. Jasper Hedges, Mrs. W. F. Heine, Mrs. Huckeride, Mrs. A. F. Kaler of New Holland, Mrs. R. S. Hosler of Ashville, Mrs. Montgomery, Mrs. E. S. Shane and Mrs. C. G. Stewart.

'Adah Night' Observed By Eastern Star

"Adah Night" was celebrated Tuesday evening when Order of Eastern Star met in Masonic Temple with Mrs. Donald Collins, worthy matron directing the session.

All past Adahs were recognized and those present presented with a miniature corsage by Mrs. Collins as they were introduced were Mrs. Ralph Hosler of Ashville, Mrs. Carl Bennett, Mrs. John Magill, Mrs. John R. Woods and Mrs. Harold Sharpe. Present Adah, Mrs. Ray Marshall, was also presented with flowers.

At the conclusion of the business meeting a playlet, "Jephthah's Daughter" was presented. Those taking part in the play were Mrs. Sharpe, Mrs. Magill, Mrs. Woods, Earl Hilgard, Homer Reber, Walden Reichelderfer, Harold Sharpe and Arthur Sark.

The play told the story of a Judge of Israel, Jephthah, who sacrificed his only daughter, Adah, to Jehovah in fulfillment of a vow that "if he returned victorious over the Ammonites he would offer up whatsoever came forth to meet him on his return."

Members were served refreshments in the Red Room and past Adahs were seated at a special table. Spring flowers were used throughout the dining room and

Karshner-Wolfe Marriage Read Wednesday Night

Presbyterian church was the scene Wednesday evening of the ceremony when Miss Lula Mae Karshner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Karshner of Tarlton, became the bride of Edward Wolfe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Wolfe of Circleville Route 4.

The Rev. Donald Mitchell performed the double ring ceremony as the hands of the clock moved past 7:30 p. m.

Given in marriage by her father, Miss Karshner was wearing a light blue nylon street length gown with blue accessories, an antique bracelet belonging to her grandmother and carrying a white Bible topped with sweet peas.

Miss Lucia Karshner, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and she was wearing a pale yellow nylon frock with black accessories and carrying a colonial bouquet.

Earl Wolfe acted as best man for his brother.

Following the wedding a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents for the members of the families and guests from Columbus, Circleville and Tarlton.

The new Mrs. Wolfe is a graduate of Saltcreek Township school and is an employee of the Farm Bureau in Columbus. The bridegroom was also graduated by Saltcreek school and is now engaged in farming.

Following the reception the newly married couple went to their new home near Tarlton.

BETTY NOW BOSSES MARY

Seattle Has Seven Hills, Totem Pole, Mrs. Jensen

SEATTLE, April 11 — Like Rome and San Francisco, Seattle sits on seven lovely hills, each one steeper than the last and all rolling down to the waters of Puget Sound, one of the world's great natural harbors.

The inlets and the little bays are covered with the log jams and the fishing fleets that have poured wealth into this city for decades. During the season, the fleets bring salmon into this port until, in the words of the local citizens, "hell won't have it."

The Chamber of Commerce and the city fathers want visiting firemen to see the vast Boeing aircraft plant and the shipbuilding facilities, to say nothing of the great U.S. Navy installations.

But if the visitor is on a private mission to see the totem pole in Pioneer Square, he is almost worn out with the effort to see that pole.

Trying to see that totem pole is like trying to get German food in Milwaukee. No one will take him seriously.

"Oh, that old thing," Seattle natives would say of the totem pole, and firmly take their visitors off to see the University of Washington or the Yacht Club.

THE VISITOR IS finally taken to Pioneer Square to see the pole and it looked just like his Aunt Nell said it did when she went to Seattle 35 years ago, and then came home and told the kids all about it.

You can't say that a totem pole is pretty or even useful, but it is interesting, and many contend the Alaskan natives (this totem came from Alaska) invented modern sculpture long before Jacob Epstein or Brancusi.

It wouldn't surprise some observers at all if modern sculptors hadn't been stealing their ideas from the Eskimos all along. It seems unlikely that the moderns have been able to think up the current sculpturing distortions out of their own little heads.

And in view of the fact that lots of arty people have currently gone in for primitive art, it is surprising that someone hasn't dreamed up a totem pole show. It would at least make as much sense as some of the exhibitions offered in the last 15 years.

Another authentic sight in Seattle in addition to the totem pole is Mrs. Clyde R. Jensen.

Mrs. Jensen is the famous older sister, Mary, who made Betty MacDonald ("The Egg and I") what she is today, and both seem tolerably well satisfied. If you read Betty's last book "Anyone Can Do Anything," you will never forget Mary, the indomitable older sister who was always getting jobs for Betty in which employers, who were no better than they should be, were always chasing her around the office furniture.

Is Mary really as bossy as Betty said in the book?

"Certainly," says Mary, "I was the oldest and I had to make 'em amount to something."

The shoe is on the other foot now, though, and Betty is bossing the life out of Mary, both agreed. Betty has made Mary sit down, on the theory that "anybody can do anything," and write one book of her own.

"One," snorted Mary, "I am on the second book now and she (indicating Betty) still has the whip in her hand."

Man, 76, Takes Frigid Bath

SOUTH HAVEN, Mich., April 11—A 76-year-old man who had to spend a whole night in an ice-cold bath was reported in fair condition today in South Haven hospital.

Aloy Rytina was rescued yesterday morning suffering from shock and exposure. Rytina said he slipped and lodged his foot between a wall and the edge of the tub.

The cold water had been turned on and Rytina remained stuck all night until his daughter, Mrs. Irving Hamilton, found him and took him to the hospital.

Swiss Is Given Citizenship OK

WASHINGTON, April 11—The Supreme Court has cleared the way to citizenship for a Swiss alien who had been barred from refusing to serve in the U.S. armed forces during World War II.

The former Swiss army officer, Paul Moser, got exemption from the draft under a Selective Service law clause excusing aliens but barring them from ever becoming citizens.

The Supreme Court, in a unanimous decision written by Justice Minton, said that because of "the circumstances of the case" and the wording of the exemption form, Moser never had a chance to make a clear cut choice between citizenship and military service.

Winnie To Visit In Washington

WASHINGTON, April 11—Britain's wartime prime minister, Winston Churchill, plans to visit Washington for several days during his trip to the United States next month.

Churchill is to speak in Philadelphia on May 8 and proceed to Washington the following day. He will be the guest of British Ambassador Sir Oliver Franks for several days afterward.

Churchill is expected to be a luncheon guest of President Truman during his Washington stay, but plans no public statements beyond the Philadelphia address.

Lustron Hearing Is Scheduled For April 23

COLUMBUS, April 11 — The federal court here will hear final arguments April 23 on a petition to turn over more than $2 million in cash assets of the defunct Lustron Corporation to Chicago bankruptcy trustees.

Federal Judge Mell G. Underwood angrily refused Tuesday to rule immediately on the petition filed only a few minutes before the court session.

Attorneys for the bankruptcy trustees urged speed so the Navy could take over the former prefabricated housing plant which figured spectacularly in a Senate investigation of the Reconstruction Finance Corp.

However, Judge Underwood stated heatedly:

"The court is not inclined to follow such a course. 'I am not impressed by the urgency of this situation. It is my opinion that the Navy can iron out all of its difficulties through conferences with the proper officials.'

"If not, I feel that under the emergency war powers the Navy would have no difficulty in taking immediate possession of this plant, despite the litigation pending here and in their courts."

The Navy has possession of the Lustron building and grounds, but a foreclosure proceeding by the RFC in Columbus and bankruptcy action by three small creditors have kept the big plant idle.

The bankruptcy action for less than $6,000 was filed last June 8, two days after the mortgaged property was sold at a U.S. marshal's auction for $6 million. Lustron owed the RFC some $36.5 million before the federal agency foreclosed on its loans.

Second Miner Is Found Dead

EVELETH, Minn., April 11—Rescue workers have recovered the body of a second miner entombed since Friday by a cave-in at an Eveleth iron ore mine.

Seven hours were required to free the body of Frank Putzel, 42, from the pile of rubble in which he was found buried last night. Death was attributed to a punctured neck. Putzel was found eight feet away from where 53-year-old Anton Korcha was discovered Sunday night.

Lad, 8, Takes 26-Mile Walk

NEWARK, April 11 — Eight-year-old Marvin Jones is back home in Newark today after the 26-mile walk he took to Zanesville to see his grandmother.

Marvin seemed none the worse for his hike along the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks and a right spent in an empty box car on a siding.

He disappeared Sunday and was found yesterday noon in Zanesville. Asked how he found "just followed the diesels." He was lucky he picked the right direction.

War Bonus Deals Are Told Here

Other States' Offers Outlined

Pickaway County veterans, who were residents of other states before entering service in World War II, still may have a bonus coming, according to James P. Shea, local veterans' vice officer.

He said that bonus applications are available in nine states. They are as follows:

Connecticut: $10 for each month of active service up to a maximum of $300. Next of kin may apply. Deadline is June 30.

Indiana: $10 a month for domestic and $15 for foreign service. In addition veterans at least 10 percent disabled get $100. Next of kin may apply. Deadline for applications is April 30, but bonus payments are not expected until 1953, since funds must be collected by taxation.

MASSACHUSETTS: A bonus of $100 was provided in 1946, and new legislation adds $200 for veterans who served overseas and $100 for veterans with at least six months domestic service. Next of kin are entitled to the bonus. There is no deadline.

New Hampshire: $10 a month for domestic service, $15 a month for foreign service. Next of kin are entitled. There is no deadline.

New York: $50 for less than 60 days domestic service, $150 for a minimum of 60 days in the United States, and $250 for a veteran with foreign service. Next of kin are eligible. There is no deadline.

North Dakota: $12.50 a month for domestic service, $17.50 for foreign service and a $600 minimum to next of kin of veterans who died in active service. Deadline is Feb. 17, 1954.

Vermont: $10 for each month of active service up to a $120 maximum. Next of kin are eligible. No deadline.

Washington: $10 a month for domestic service, $15 a month for foreign service. Next of kin are eligible. There is no deadline.

West Virginia: $10 a month for domestic service, $15 a month for foreign service. Applications will be available July 1. Deadline will be Dec. 1, 1952. Veterans of both World War I and World War II will be eligible.

Shea said further information can be obtained in his office in Pickaway Courthouse.

Americans Like Inflation, Claim

TOLEDO, April 11 — A real estate board president said last night in Toledo that inflation will remain with the nation for a long time because Americans actually like it.

Harold Goodrich, president of the Ohio Association of Real Estate Boards, spoke to delegates at the Northwestern Ohio realtors district conference. He also predicted a critical shortage of good investment property.

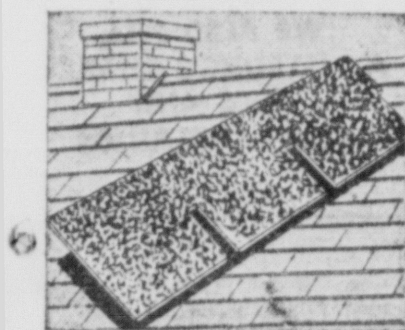

Franklin County OKs Four Issues

COLUMBUS, April 11—Unofficial election returns today showed that Columbus and Franklin County voters approved four bond issues — totaling $238,100—by a healthy margin.

The issues provide for a county-city expressway system, improvement of Port Columbus airport and construction and repair of schools.

Scout Leaders Here Booked For Conference

Pickaway County men interested in rejuvenation of the local Boy Scout movement are to hold a planning meeting here Wednesday evening.

Slated for 7:30 p. m. in the James I. Smith residence, the meeting will be among the newly-appointed officials for this area.

Clay Vaughan, newly-named district chairman, will preside. Gil Bolin of Columbus, field executive for Pickaway County, is to be present in an advisory capacity.

The local Boy Scout program, which bogged down last year, is being revived and an entirely new program is being formulated.

Bolin explained: "During our last program, we had the boys, but not the supervision; now we have the supervision, but I'm not sure we still have the boys."

Meanwhile, Richard Morris, another local Boy Scout booster, has been named to a committee which is planning a special dedication ceremony for the new training center at the Central Ohio Council Camp.

Jack Sensenbrenner, formerly of Circleville and now of Columbus, also is on the committee.

New Chemical To Aid Water Fluoridation

CLEVELAND, April 11 — A self-policing new chemical which promises safer and cheaper fluoridation of water to prevent dental decay has been described to the American Chemical Society's 119th national meeting in Cleveland.

Dr. Wayne E. White of the Ozark-Hammon Company, Tulsa, Okla., said the new substance, called flural, is much less poisonous than the fluoridating agents now in use and can, therefore, be handled with less danger by water plant personnel.

Flural is self-policing in the sense that it will release fluorine to the water only so long as the concentration of the anti-dental-decay element is below a certain safe maximum.

Dr. White added that "education of the public has proceeded to the point that the 'man on the street' usually knows that if his city water has about one part fluorine per million parts of water his children will have better teeth than if they do not have this magic element."

Hog Cholera Warning Out

COLUMBUS, April 11 — The chief of the state division of animal husbandry warned Ohio farmers today that hog cholera may cause severe financial losses this year.

Dr. H. G. Geyer said the disease already has appeared in Highland, Clarke and Athens Counties.

He advised farmers to use extreme caution in their sanitation programs and in bringing new swine to their farms. He suggested early vaccination.

May 1 Corn Deadline Noted

Pickaway County corn producers have until May 1 to make corn loan purchase agreements, according to John G. Boggs, chairman of the county Production and Marketing Administration Committee.

He pointed out that Pickaway County is in the moth area, and "delivery of moth corn may take place the first 10 days of June."

He said corn producers must notify the county PMA committee at least 10 days before June 1 if they intend to make delivery before July 1.

Moonshiner, 13, Held For Death Of His Father

BESSEMER, Ala., April 11—A 13-year-old boy who has been out of school most of the year to operate a moonshine still is held in Bessemer jail today for the murder of his father.

William C. Lamar admitted to Jefferson County Chief Deputy Clyde Morris that he and his cousin, B. B. Brasher, 20, killed Billy's father, known in Bessemer for 30 years as the "Hog Man."

Brasher also is held on a murder charge, and Morris said Billy's sister and mother will be charged in the death of the wagon-traveling swine dealer.

The body of Lum Lamar, 57, was found on a nearby creek bank Monday.

"We decided to kill him Friday night," said his teen-age son. "He was mean to us and to Mama."

He told deputies they were angered particularly when Lamar ate a rabbit which had been cooked for his sick wife. They said he told his wife that gravy and bread was good enough for her.

Billy's sister, Mrs. Betty Doris Helton, told deputies: "If they hadn't killed him, I would have."

Deputy Morris said they clubbed Lamar with a piece of iron pipe while he was asleep. After dragging him outside the house, the deputy continued, the boys "nearly blew his head off" with a shotgun. The body was taken in the family car and dropped near the creek.

Elinor Williams' Teen Tips

Dates are fun, but they can cause problems, too. Like these in today's mail:

"I am 14 years old and my mother won't let me go out with boys. She says I'm too young, but for my age I am very grown up. Would you please answer this in the paper?"

Ans.—If you're in high school, you're old enough to attend school activities—with boys as well as girls. Perhaps your mother will gradually change her point of view about dates if you arrange a double date for school doings, going with another girl and two boys—as a group—instead of a solo date. Why not try this first? Have you tried inviting a boy to your home so your mother can meet him and get acquainted with him? This might help.

"Don't you think that if a girl asks a boy to a party or something given by her club he ought to ask her out at least for a movie date in return?" writes another girl in the teens.

Ans.—Right! It's bad manners for a boy to accept an invitation from a girl unless he likes her enough to give her a date bid of his own in return.

This is a rule of courtesy and good manners for all your life, boys, beginning right now, and you'll never be popular in the social department of your life unless you follow it.

For tips on personality perks-ups to help increase your fun and popularity, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Elinor Williams at this paper.

City Loses Case In High Court

Appeal of the City of Circleville from a jury verdict Nov. 23, 1949, in Pickaway County common pleas court awarding $700 damages to Mrs. Mary Davis of Circleville Route 3 has been dismissed in the fourth district court of appeals.

The case was dismissed for "want of prosecution." Hearing was held in Portsmouth.

Mrs. Davis' petition, filed in the Fall of 1947, said she suffered permanent injuries as a result of stepping out of an auto into a depression in front of 362 Logan street.

Harry Promises

Lefthand Pitch

WASHINGTON, April 11 — President Truman has promised to pitch left-handed when he throws out the first baseball at the American League's opening game next Monday in Washington.

Mr. Truman, who in the past has crossed up the experts by throwing with both hands, has told photographers that he will be a southpaw this year.

The President gave the promise as he was presented with a season pass for the games of the Washington Senators, who meet the New York Yankees in the season's opener.

Facing Royals
NEW YORK, April 11—The theory of home court supremacy gets another test tonight when the championship-bound Rochester Royals meet the New York Knickerbockers in the third game of the National Basketball Association's playoff finals.

The Royals have a 2-0 advantage built up on their home court in Rochester where the Knicks have a highly unimpressive 0-11 record over a three-year span.

In New York, however, the Royals have failed to beat the Knickerbockers in three games.

CINCINNATI, April 11 — All-Ohio Center Jim Holstein will captain the 1951-52 University of Cincinnati basketball team.

Holstein, who paced his team to an 18-4 record this year with a 17-point per game average, was selected team captain last night at UC's annual basketball dinner.

The Bearcat team, first in history to participate in the National Invitation Tournament in New York, received a Cincinnati Sports Writers Trophy last night for its 77 points per game average, tops in the nation.

KO In First
OKLAHOMA CITY, April 11—Sugar Ray Robinson, king of the middleweights, spotted 11 pounds to Don Ellis here Monday night and knocked him out in 1:36 of the first round of a scheduled ten-round.

Robinson, fighting for the second time as middleweight champion, dallied with the Atlantic City fighter for about half a minute. A right to the jaw sent Ellis down for an eight count and a left hook put him down to stay. Robinson weighed 157, Ellis 163.

DEFEATS 'YOUR OWN FAULT'

Poor Training Habits Here Lashed By Jimmy Hull

Circleville high school athletes probably will never receive a more severe soul-searching tongue-lashing during any half-time than they absorbed before the public Tuesday evening.

Administered by a two-time All-America basketball player, the scathing came from Jimmy Hull, one of the greatest athletes ever produced by Greenfield and Ohio State university.

Hull, now an orthodontist in Columbus, was principal speaker at the annual basketball honor banquet given by Circleville Booster Club.

If Hull came with a prepared address, he discarded it completely, because his half-hour message was pointed personally at poor training habits among local athletes.

Declaring that "it is a shame that they are among those honored" at the Booster banquet, Hull declared that some of the younger members of the Circleville cage combine had been seen smoking just before the Tuesday affair.

REVEALING THAT he had been "snooping," Hull said he saw three non-varsity players puffing on cigarettes. He declared:

"Circleville will never produce a championship basketball or football team when any of its members break training rules. If any of the varsity members broke training rules this year, then it is their own fault that they ended up with an eight-win, twelve-loss season."

While he congratulated the Booster Club for sponsoring the honor banquet, Hull declared that the club "can go a step farther."

He recommended that the local Boosters follow the example set by a similar organization in his hometown of Greenfield.

There, Booster Clubbers watch for high school athletes who break training by "staying out too late, playing pinball machines and frequenting honky-tonks."

He added that "any athlete who goes into honky-tonks will be an athlete very long. Of course, if all he wants to be is a bum, then he can go into those joints."

Greenfield's training rules for many years have been rigidly enforced.

ANY HIGH SCHOOL athlete found smoking or drinking beer or whisky is automatically kicked off all athletic teams for the balance of his high school career.

It was evident to his listeners that Hull still keeps basketball a major part of his life. In fact, he said that he probably would be "just as happy coaching basketball" as he now is as a dental specialist.

Spotting the young athletes puffing cigarettes apparently whetted Hull's urge to stress the need for a rigid training schedule.

He enumerated the makings of a championship team as follows:

1. You must have training rules. No smoking either during or between seasons. "Any fellow drinking beer or whisky isn't fit to be on any team."
2. Keep regular hours all the time—even when you want to celebrate winning a championship. "And any girl who dates an athlete should help him keep regular sleeping hours; in fact, she should refuse to date a player who is breaking any training rule."
3. "The recent New York scandal was horrible. One of the finest players I ever saw sold out for $1,500. Why, he could have made many times that amount playing professional ball."
4. "You must be all for one and one for all. Team-work is necessary all the time. Even the fellows who know they are not on the first string should watch every play closely so that they know what to do when their time to play comes."
5. "You cannot be a great athlete and a dumbbell, too. You must keep your grades up. The other kids in the school look up to you. And when you cut up, they think it is all right for them to do it, too."
6. "Honor your coach. He is putting out everything for you and is always for you. Did any of you ever go up to him after the season was over and thank you for putting up—yes, putting up—with you?"
7. "Circleville has a good coach. You don't need any better. I believe you boys on the varsity will admit that your eight-win, twelve-loss record was your own fault."

Williams expects to weigh in at 144 pounds, three less than his Canadian opponent, and predicts he will score a knockout by the eighth round. He is an 11 to 5 favorite.

If he does, it will be the first time Pruden has ever been put on the canvas. The up-and-coming Fitzie has won his last 47 fights, the latest being a decision over Tony Janiro.

Williams Favored In Pruden Bout

CHICAGO, April 11 — Lightweight King like Williams, who has lost to welterweights four times in the last year, takes on another one tonight when he meets rugged Fitzie Pruden in a ten-round non-title bout in Chicago Stadium.

Williams expects to weigh in at 144 pounds, three less than his Canadian opponent, and predicts he will score a knockout by the eighth round. He is an 11 to 5 favorite.

If he does, it will be the first time Pruden has ever been put on the canvas. The up-and-coming Fitzie has won his last 47 fights, the latest being a decision over Tony Janiro.

Birds Booked Against Sox

COLUMBUS, April 11 — The battle of the majors and the minors takes place in Columbus' Redbird stadium today when a fancy Boston Red Sox team puts on an exhibition with the Capital City Birds.

The trial game will be somewhat of an unveiling for Ohioans who will see their junior league world champions in action for the first time this year.

Cappy Walker's aggregation will play two more exhibition games Thursday and Friday — both against Louisville — and then will begin defense of its title Tuesday in Columbus against Minneapolis.

As Has Been Said Many Seasons Before, Bosox Should Win Flag

NEW YORK, April 11 — It could be said that if the Boston Red Sox don't win the American League pennant this year, Manager Joe McCarthy will retire—except that it was said last year, and McCarthy did.

The Red Sox lost the flag on the last day of the season in 1948. The next year, when they could not lose, they lost the flag on the last day of the season. Last year, when they absolutely could not lose, they finished third.

Now they have a new manager, Steve O'Neill. They have Cleveland's erstwhile shortstop-manager, Lou Boudreau, as their shortstop. They have the one thing they supposedly didn't have—extra pitching—in Bill Wight and Rae Scarborough.

Their first baseman, Walt Dropo, has suffered a damaged wrist, so until he gets back into the lineup the Sox will blunder along with Billy Goodman on first. All Goodman did last year was win the league batting title.

HOW THE REST of the American League figures to beat boys like that—plus Ted Williams, Bobby Doerr, Dom DiMaggio, Vern Stephens and Mel Parnell nobody knows. All that is certain is the record, which states this tremendous team hasn't won the pennant three times running.

In view of this, other clubs in the American League can still hope. Notable among the hopefuls are the Cleveland Indians, with Al Lopez in as manager in place of Boudreau.

Indian catching has been strengthened by the acquisition of Birdie Tebbetts from the Red Sox and infielder George Stinnett from the St. Louis Browns; and by Rookie Outfielders Orestes Minoza and Harry (Suitcase) Simpson.

A late-season collapse against the Browns, of all people, cost the Indians their shot at the flag last season. But with good hitting and a steel-strong pitching corps headed by 23-game winner Bob Lemon, they must be counted in the race in 1951—the Red Sox notwithstanding.

Of all the first division finishers in both leagues last year, however, none has pennant hopes for 1951 to match those of the New York Giants, who've been without a National League flag since 1937.

The Giants' superb late-season drive, which turned up the matchless pitching of Sal Maglie and Jim Hearn, carried them to third place last season. Now they have added some possibly good rookie pitching; Negro Infielder Star Artie Wilson; and smooth Catcher Rafael Noble. Not even Manager Leo Durocher can disguise his optimism.

THE BOSTON BRAVES, beaten out for third money by the Giants, also are strongly hopeful this year. In an effort to lend support to his pitching, Manager Billy Southworth is looking to Rookie Ed St. Claire, a catcher; Johnny Logan, a shortstop; and Luis Marquez, an outfielder.

In case the support is there, the pitching should be all right. Warren Spahn, John Sain and Vern Bickford totaled 60 victories among themselves last season—something of a record for a team that finished fourth.

Tomorrow: Cards, Senators, Reds and White Sox.

Baseball, Golf Doused; Track Team Ranks 2nd

While Circleville's golf and baseball games were washed out by foul weather Tuesday afternoon, the Tiger track team traveled to Columbus and placed second in a triangular event.

The local golf team was scheduled to entertain Upper Arlington on the Pickaway Country Club greens but the event was postponed.

The baseball squad had been booked to travel to Chillicothe, but that event, too, fell before the whims of the weatherman.

In the triangular track meet, Circleville tangled with Columbus East and Linden McKinley. Final score: East 124 1-6 points, Circleville 45 5-6 and Linden 40.

The local thinclads were able to annex only one first place and a tie for another.

THOMAS' TIME of 4:56 for the mile run was tops with Hamilton of East and Wolf of Linden finishing second and third respectively.

The first place tie was tallied by Pontious in a ten-foot pole vault. He shared it with Wallace of East and Rhea of East.

East tallied a total of ten undisputed first places while Linden collected two. The Tiger mile relay and half-mile relay teams placed second.

Individual second place spots were earned by the following Tigers: McClarren in the 160-yard low hurdles, Leist in the 880-yard run and Coffland in the broadjump. Third place finishes were recorded by McClarren in the 120-yard high hurdles, and Boyd in the high jump.

Dick Wakefield Is Given Gate

OAKLAND, Cal., April 11 — Oakland baseball club officials announced today that Outfielder Dick Wakefield, much publicized former University of Michigan star, has been given his unconditional release.

Wakefield came to the Pacific Coast League club last June from the New York Yankees as part payment for Jackie Jensen and Billy Martin. The Oaks had to assume his $17,000 contract, but this year he agreed he would play for one dollar and any bonus the Oaks cared to give him if he made good.

Dr. Garry Cleveland Myers Booked For Address Here

Local PTA To Hear Top Child Expert

Thursday Evening Meeting Awaited

Cincinnati Parent-Teacher Association Thursday evening will hold what its officers consider to be one of its most important meetings of the year.

Highlighting the meeting, which will be held at 7:30 p. m. Thursday in the social rooms of the high school building, will be an address by Dr. Garry Cleveland Myers, prominent child psychologist.

Dominating the business session of the meeting will be annual election of officers, according to Dr. Richard Samuel, president.

Dr. Samuel said that Dr. Myers would give his address following the business meeting and that a question-answer period may be offered following the address.

THERE IS A possibility that Mrs. Myers, long an associate with her husband in lecturing and publishing enterprises, may appear on the program, too.

Dr. Myers has a diversified professional background as a writer, editor, teacher, psychologist and public speaker; on subjects pertaining to child well being.

He received his Ph.D. in psychology from Columbia university.

He is given generous space in American Men of Science; Leaders in Education; World Biography; World Who's Who; Who Knows—What, and Who's Who in America.

Dr. Myers writes a newspaper column directed to parents of young children. It is widely distributed and reaches over three million families daily.

Dr. Myers has taught at all levels from the first grade upward. For a number of years he was a professor of education at Western Reserve university and conducted courses in child development and family life.

He has to his credit numerous researches published in scientific journals and is author of many books for parents and children. He and Mrs. Myers have collaborated in a new book, "Homes Build Persons," which will be soon off the press.

In 1946 Dr. and Mrs. Myers, together with a number of associates, founded the monthly publication Highlights For Children.

THE MYERS couple has since been actively engaged in editing Highlights For Children and has received wide acclaim for establishing new levels of excellence in current literature for children.

This publication is one of the most widely read periodicals for children in the country, having over 25,000 users in Ohio alone.

Dr. Myers' works reflect not only an extensive professional background, but also a deep understanding as a parent, for he

Wallace's Committee Seen Forced To Kill Ton-Mile Truck Tax Bill

Governor Lausche took another licking last night from the Republican-dominated Ohio Legislature as the house commerce and transportation committee virtually killed his ton-mile truck tax proposal.

The committee wound up public hearings on the proposal about midnight and then sent it to almost-certain death at the hands of a subcommittee, together with the proposal of Rep. Adrian Fink (R-Cuyahoga) to increase truck taxes by a flat 35 percent.

The subcommittee, composed of Reps. Ed Wallace (D-Pickaway), Tom Richards (R-Carroll) and Sam Devine (R-Franklin) will, it is believed, re-write the Fink bill to cut the increase to about 15 percent. This would produce about $3 million a year in additional highway revenue.

By contrast, Lausche's proposed ton-mile proposal was designed to produce $19 million the first year and $23 million a year thereafter.

The ton-mile tax bill was bitterly opposed by a parade of witnesses representing the truckers.

THEY DISPUTED Fink's claim that trucks have paid the state no additional revenue since the present truck license base was established in 1932, and also

OPS Lifts Price Lid To Aid Grain Milling Industry

WASHINGTON, April 11—The Office of Price Stabilization has amended the general freeze regulation to permit processors and millers of wheat, rye, corn and other grains to establish ceilings reflecting actual grain costs during the Dec. 19-Jan. 25 base period.

OPS said the regulation will have little if any effect on the price of flour to consumers because the price of wheat has decreased since the base period. Wheat accounts for 80 percent of the cost of flour.

"Negligible increases" are likely, OPS added, in the ceiling prices for meal, mill feed and other grain byproducts.

The general price freeze last Jan. 26 fixed grain products ceiling at the highest delivered price during the base period. Many of those prices were based on contracts involving grain costs as far back as September and October, 1950, when grain prices were lower.

Consequently, the ceiling price did not permit processors to reflect increased costs of grains, which were under parity.

Processors of grain flour, meal, mill feed and other grain products are now authorized to use the contract price for future delivery prevailing in the base period rather than the base period delivery price as their ceiling.

The new regulation is effective Thursday.

his assertion that Ohio is among the bottom eight states in revenue received from the trucking industry.

John L. Smith, chairman of the legislative conference of Ohio Motor Carriers, declared that it costs only 13 percent more to build a road to carry the heaviest trucks than it does for a road designed for passenger cars only, and on that basis the trucks were paying "a fair or more than fair" percentage of the highway costs.

Earl J. Thomas, who identified himself as a rate expert, said that any increase would be passed on to the ultimate consumer, and that the enactment of a ton-mile tax in New York state required truckers to ask for a freight increase of 10 cents per hundred pounds.

John L. Marsh, representing the petroleum industry, asked the committee to "lay these bills aside" until further studies could be made, and warned that it would be "economic suicide" to tax the truckers beyond their capability to pay.

Former State Public Works Director George B. Sowers of Cleveland charged the highway department with "inaccuracies, half-truths, insinuation, innuendo, gross exaggeration and pure bunk" in furnishing statistics to the committee in support of the Lausche proposal.

The bitterest attack, however, came from Committee Member Fred Hunt (R-Lucas) who charged again that Lausche, as a representative of the railroads, was gunning for the trucking industry.

GOP Women Book Parley

COLUMBUS, April 11—Republican county chairwomen and women members of the GOP state central and executive committee will make year-round action plans when they meet here April 18.

Mrs. Florence G. Morris of Toledo, vice-chairman of the state committee, said:

"The days of the 60 and 90-day campaigns are a thing of the past. Long-term campaigning pays off when the ballots are counted. If we hope to bring about a change on the national scene in 1952, we must all start working together as a team and aid in electing Republicans in local elections."

ITCH (Scabies) is highly contagious and will continue for life if not stopped. Its sole cause is the EXSORA mite which is immune to ordinary treatment. Only three days EXSORA treatment is required.

Babs Hutton Said Ailing

NEW YORK, April 11—Barbara Hutton, heiress to the Woolworth five and ten cent store fortunes, was reported in serious condition today in a New York hospital with a virus infection.

Miss Hutton, who recently failed in an attempt to gain a Mexican divorce from her fourth husband, Prince Igor Troubetzkoy, has not been in good health for some time. Last night it was reported she was running a temperature of 104 degrees.

Her doctors refused to discuss her illness. Miss Hutton entered the hospital weighing only 90 pounds.

No-Spare-Tire Order Stumps Auto Dealers

If you ask Cincinnati automobile dealers, someone in Washington has wheels turning within the wheels in his head.

The dealers point to the recent National Production Authority order which prohibits delivery of a new auto with more than four new tires.

New cars being delivered here these days have the usual four tired wheels, but the fifth wheel is bare.

But dealers say that anyone who drives his car around without a spare tire is a fool. And if the dealer doesn't sell the new car buyer a new tire for a spare, some other merchant will.

There is nothing in the NPA order to keep the new car purchaser from buying the needed fifth new tire.

As a result, dealers ask: "How can this save rubber?"

"How can this save rubber? Of course, if enough purchasers are fools, it probably will save some."

Hope of the NPA was that the spare tire needed would be one found in a used merchandise shop. But today's high-powered new cars roll better and more efficiently if their footgear is new and all of equal size and quality.

Anyhow, local dealers reason,

Maine Can Aid Drys, Belief

AUGUSTA, Me., April 11—State Rep. Benjamin C. Bubar says that Maine could set an example to the nation in abstinence as well as politics.

Urging adoption of his bill to halt sale of liquor for the duration of the national emergency,

Bubar said: "The rest of the states would then go dry in splendid confirmation of the political adage 'as Maine goes, so goes the nation.'" the second-hand tire stock will all find purchasers sooner or later, so the "savings" will be only temporary at best.

Said one dealer:

"It is just another one of those unexplainable things that Washington thinks up."

tion of the national emergency, Bubar said: "The rest of the states would then go dry in splendid confirmation of the political adage 'as Maine goes, so goes the nation.'"
